Senate Votes 67-20 To Censure McCarthy

Two Counts Remain For Action Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate condemned Wednesday night by a vote of 67-20 the conduct of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy on the first of three counts against him and cleared the way for final action on two other counts Thursday.

The action amounted to a vote of guilty on the charge McCarthy obstructed the Senate and acted contrary to its traditions in failing to help a subcommittee which investigated him in 1951 and 1952, and in "abusing" the group's members.

McCarthy did not vote on the censure resolution but denounced it as "a foul job" and said the American people know "I am being censured because I dared to do the 'dishonorable' thing of exposing Communists in government."

The Wisconsin Republican also got a wholly new investigation started by charging that forgery and suppression of evidence have been used against him.

In an outgrowth of this charge, Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, named a special committee to look into the alleged checking of senators' incoming mail by unauthorized persons.

All the Democrats present and 23 Republicans joined in voting "concern" McCarthy's behavior toward the Heintz-Hayden-Hendrickson subcommittee which investigated his financial and other affairs in 1951 and 1952.

Knowland and 19 other Republicans backed McCarthy. The vote came after a series of attempts to spare the Wisconsin senator from censure were defeated by similar losses.

Still to be disposed of are charges that McCarthy:

1. Abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when the general appeared as a witness before McCarthy's Permanent Investigations subcommittee. He's likely to get more than 20 votes on that count.

2. Abused the Watkins committee which recommended he be censured on the two other counts. McCarthy has called the committee an "unwitting handmaiden of the Communist party."

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), one of the 20 Republicans who voted for McCarthy on the first censure count, announced he would propose a new amendment to the censure resolution Thursday. The Senate recessed early in the evening until 9 a. m. CST Thursday.

Wednesday night's first direct vote on the censure resolution came at 6:40 p. m. and was something of an anti-climax since its outcome was clearly indicated by the resounding defeat of earlier short-circuiting proposals by Sens. Dirksen (R-Ill.), Mundt (R-S.D.) and Bridges (R-N.H.).

The witness was Turner White Jr., vice president and general manager of Electric Energy Inc., a combine of five utilities building a big steam electric generating plant at Joppa to supply power to an Atomic Energy Commission plant in Kentucky.

Dale, head of the AFL Laborers Union in southern Illinois, and James Bateman, business representative of an AFL pipefitters local at U. S. District Court here on labor racketeering charges.

White told the jury that three company officials attending the St. Louis conference reported demands were made on them by Dale to permit peaceful completion of the big project.

WEARS OUT A LOT OF TRANSPORTATION

ARMSTRONG, Mo. (P)—W. T. Wallace retired Wednesday after 45 years on the job, during which he said he wore out a two-wheel cart, a buggy, a sleigh, six horses, three used cars and 14 new ones.

He was a rural mail carrier here.

Urges States Boost Unemployment Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration Wednesday urged the states to act through their legislatures to boost both the amount and duration of unemployment compensation benefits.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell released copies of letters he has written state governors urging the action next year, when most state legislatures are to meet.

The letters disclosed for the first time that, during the first nine months of this year, more than 1,300,000 unemployed ran through all the jobless benefits they had coming, without finding new employment.

"This experience illustrates the need for providing longer periods of protection in order for the program to be more effective," Mitchell wrote.

The secretary renewed the plea that he and President Eisenhower made last year that states provide (1) jobless benefits extending over a maximum 26 weeks, half a year of unemployment and (2) weekly payments equal to "at least half regular earnings." Eisenhower said then he was suggesting the changes to buoy purchasing power in times of economic stress.

At present, benefit duration varies among states from a low of 16 weeks to a high of 26 weeks. Benefit payment maximums range from $20 to $33 weekly, with the average actual payment being about $25.

Secretary Mitchell has said several times that unless state payments are made more generous, pressure will build up on Congress to legislate improvements or on employers, through collective bargaining with labor unions, to provide supplemental jobless payments.

In his letters to more than 40 state governors, Mitchell spelled out in more detail just what the administration recommended.

He said "it is our belief" that the new benefit level should be geared to half of average gross earnings, before taxes and deductions, of all insured workers, not just average earnings of the unemployed beneficiaries. This would mean higher suggested benefits than some had thought contemplated by the administration.

CLEVELAND (P)—Pretty Susan Hayes detailed in a near whisper Wednesday a 15-month illicit love affair with Dr. Samuel Sheppard—climaxing by a week of sharing the same California bedroom.

She also testified that the handsome osteopath gave her a ring, professed his love for her, and spoke of divorcing his wife, Marilyn, before her July 4 murder. Dr. Sheppard is accused of the slaying.

"I remember him saying that he loved his wife very much," Susan said, "but not so much as a wife. He was thinking of getting a divorce."

Their intimacies began late in 1952, Miss Hayes said, as a series of stolen moments of love in his automobile and in an apartment he maintained outside his home.

She conceded under cross-examination that throughout the affair she was always aware she was surrendering herself to a married man.

As the final witness for the state at Sheppard's first degree murder trial, Miss Hayes was demure and modest-appearing—a chic, attractive 24-year-old brunette.

The state's case hit its climax in the seventh week of the trial. The state rested its case at 1:17 p. m. of the 45th trial day.

The defense then launched an impassioned and well-lit unprecedented 2 hour and 24 minute plea for a dismissal of the murder charge against Dr. Sheppard.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin finally took the defense motion for dismissal or a directed acquittal verdict under overnight advisement.

Indict Three On Charge Of Murder Of W.W. Remington

SCRANTON, Pa. (P)—Three prisoners at the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary were indicted Wednesday on a general charge of murder in the fatal beating of former government economist William W. Remington.

Remington, 37, was a prisoner at the penitentiary Nov. 22 when he was assaulted with a piece of brick stuffed in a sock. He was serving a sentence for perjury in denying he passed government secrets to a Communist spy ring.

After hearing less than five hours of testimony, the federal grand jury indicted Lewis Cage Jr., 17, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Robert Cal, Chatter, 21, Washington, D. C.; and George Junior McCoy, 34, Grundy, Va.

Name Illinois Hog Raiser Nation's Top Pork Producer

CHICAGO (P)—Swine judges at the International Live Stock Exposition Wednesday named an Illinois hog raiser as the nation's first pork producer.

They picked a 235-pound heavy weight Poland-China shown by Oscar W. Anderson of Leland, Ill. for grand champion barrow. The reserve grand champion, a 223-pound middleweight Yorkshire, was shown by Ohio State University, last year's grand champion ship winner.

In addition, Anderson and Ohio State split the top awards for barrow pens. Anderson winning the grand championship on three heavyweight Poland-Chinas and Ohio State the reserve grand championship on middleweight Yorkshires.

Anderson, 51, a hog exhibitor at the International for nearly 30 years, won the big award on "Prairie View Pride," a sleek black animal with white legs.

Alan Williams of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, superintendent of the swine show, said the most significant feature of the hog contest this year was the fact that most all of the entries were uniformly correct in their degree of finish.

He said hogs shown this year were of more meaty type, with less fat, than in former years. This Williams said, was true of all eight breeds which competed.

Hopes For Survival Of Seven Missing In Plane Grow Dim

MILAN, N. H. (P)—Slim hopes dimmed Wednesday night for the survival of seven persons missing more than 30 hours in a Northeast Airlines plane downed in snow-covered mountains.

While ground and air searches combed the hilly, wooded terrain along the aircraft's Laconia-Berlin route without success, an expert mountaineer, termed the survival chances of the six men and a woman "very slim."

With temperatures sliding toward zero in the high elevations, Joe Dodge, manager of the Appalachian Mountain Club's Pinkham Notch camp, said any survivors of the landing could not live on other night without proper equipment and clothing.

The slim hope that spurred weary searchers was a faint and fading radio message, "presumably from the pilot," that said: "Emergency—down five miles northeast of field . . . hill, but . . ."

The message initiated a close air combing of the Bald Mountain area, about five miles northeast of Berlin airport in Milan. However, the search by helicopter, private plane and service aircraft failed to turn up the missing airplane.

CONVICT JOEL RACKETEERING PEORIA, Ill. (P)—Virgil Floyd, 56, a Joliet inmate official, was convicted today of labor racketeering. Federal Judge J. Robert Adair, of Quincy, said he would pass sentence later.

Floyd, business agent of the AFL Teamsters Local 179 in Joliet was accused by the government of accepting payoffs from employers in return for not causing labor trouble on jobs in his territory in 1952. He denied the charges in testimony Tuesday. The case went to the jury early today.

Sen. Knowland Appears To Be Teaming Up With McCarthy For Control Of GOP Party

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) appeared Wednesday night to be linking his political future with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) in what might develop into a battle for control of the Republican party.

Knowland, the Republican leader, led 20 other party members into a position of support for McCarthy on the first Senate roll call test of the censure charges against the Wisconsin senator.

When the Senate rejected, 66-21, a proposal by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) to clear McCarthy of these charges, Knowland and 20 other Republicans voted to absolve McCarthy and 22 GOP members voted against.

Actually, however, Knowland's stand was with a majority of the 48 Senate Republicans, since Sens. Bricker of Ohio and Capehart of Indiana were "paired" for the Dirksen proposal. Sen. Cordell of Oregon had said previously he was against censure and McCarthy did not show up for the vote.

Knowland failed to carry other members of the GOP Senate leadership with him into McCarthy's corner. Sens. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the conference of all

U.S. Might Blockade Red China If Peaceful Means Fail, Dulles Says

Change Red China Stands With Russia. Not Afraid Of War

MOSCOW (P)—Red China's ambassador to Moscow said Wednesday his country's millions stand "shoulder to shoulder" with Russia and are "not afraid of a war directed against aggression." He asserted the Western powers would "suffer a fate worse than Hitler's" if they fight the Communist countries.

Chang Wen-tien, who is also a member of the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee and Politburo, addressed the Soviet-sponsored European security conference.

Western observers interpreted Chang's speech as a Chinese offer to come to the defense of Russia in the event of war in Europe. He stressed China's "800 million people" Russia has about 220 million.

"Peiping radio has set the country's population at 601,930,000, about 100 million more than previous estimates by the Chinese," Chang acknowledged frankly that Communist bloc states are "headed by the Soviet Union."

He denounced the Paris agreement to rearm West Germany, calling it "a serious provocation on the part of the United States and their supporters in England and France."

He asserted Russia has "become still more powerful than in the past" and added: "Shoulder to shoulder with the Chinese people's republic . . . a mighty and united camp has therefore been brought into existence headed by the Soviet Union."

"That is why it is safe to state that if American aggressive circles and the armies in West Germany sponsored by them dared to unleash a new war against the Soviet Union and the countries of the people's democracy, they will suffer a fate worse than that suffered by Hitler."

Iowa Farm Girl's Dream Of Plumbing To Become Reality

CHICAGO (P)—The inside plumbing she dreamed of having in her farm home near Manly, Iowa, will become a reality for Janice Hurlinger, 16, winner of the International Live Stock Exposition's steer grand championship.

After her Aberdeen-Angus steer, "Sherry," was chosen the nation's top beef animal of 1954 Tuesday, Janice told newsmen she intended to use money from sale of the steer to install "inside plumbing" in her parent's 13-room home.

F. F. Elliott, senior vice president of Crane Co., plumbing equipment manufacturers, Wednesday told Janice his firm will supply free all of the equipment necessary to modernize the Hurlinger home plumbing-wise.

"At this time," he said, "when Communist China has just furnished fresh evidence of its brutal and illegal treatment of captured personnel of the United Nations command in violation of the armistice agreement, the members of this committee will surely agree that conditions for negotiations are not favorable."

Start Expedition Into Antarctic

BOSTON (P)—The Navy icebreaker Atka embarked from Boston Harbor Wednesday on a frigid five-month expedition into Antarctic waters.

It is the first United States expedition towards Little America in seven years.

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, discoverer of Little America 20 years ago, wished "Godspeed" to the Atka's 14 officers, 4 aviators, 220 enlisted men and 35 civilian technicians aboard.

The Atka's chief mission is to conduct preliminary scientific investigations of the ice-packed terrain in preparation for a larger expedition in 1957-58.

ZEELAND, Mich. (P)—Taxidermist Martin De Jonge said he trapped a 41-pound bobcat that "looked as big as a tiger." Bobcats usually weigh 20 to 25 pounds.

U.N. Refuses To Ask Red China To Korean Peace Talks In U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—With Red China's jailing of 13 Americans as spies injecting a grave new element here, the U. N. Political Committee Wednesday barred Communist China and North Korea from its debates on peace in Korea. The vote was 39-9.

Only the Soviet bloc of five plus Burma, India, Indonesia and Yugoslavia voted to invite the Reds here. The committee then voted 43-5 (Soviet bloc) to give South Korea a voice in the debate.

The case of the 13 Americans came up indirectly here, but Secretary of State Dulles disclosed in Washington he had been in contact with U. N. members on the problem.

American delegate James J. Wadsworth denounced the Red Chinese action against the Americans, saying it was taken on "trumped up charges." He brought it up as an additional reason why the Communist Chinese should not be asked to come here for the Korean debate. Laughing this with past Red "aggressions," Wadsworth said:

"The Communist Chinese have no right to sit at this table." He and the committee majority ignored a thinly veiled hint from Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzepowski of Poland that an invitation might help clear up the case.

Jacob A. Malik, Soviet chief delegate, formally proposed a new conference on Korea among the "states involved." This apparently would be a continuation of the Geneva setup and the United States and the West have made it clear they are not interested in a repeat performance of the Geneva talks on Korea.

Wadsworth gave an indirect reply to Malik in his opening speech in the political committee's general debate.

"At this time," he said, "when Communist China has just furnished fresh evidence of its brutal and illegal treatment of captured personnel of the United Nations command in violation of the armistice agreement, the members of this committee will surely agree that conditions for negotiations are not favorable."

Illinoisans Safe After Plane Crash On New York Hill

NAPLES, N. Y. (P)—Two Illinois businessmen and their charter pilot escaped with their lives in the pre-dawn darkness Wednesday when their airplane pancaked into the top of towering Gannett Hill during a heavy snowsquall.

Reported in good condition in the Thompson Memorial Hospital, Canandaigua, were:

J. Jack Humkele, 39, of Peoria, an industrial sales special representative for Caterpillar, who suffered a fractured spine and a broken right foot.

Leonard Heiber, 31, of Peoria, an industrial sales special representative for Caterpillar, who sustained a broken nose, possible rib fractures and chin cuts.

Russell P. Davies, 29, of Peoria, a pilot employed by Byerly Aviation Corp., owner of the single engine plane, who suffered a broken jaw, a fractured right ankle and chin cuts.

The crash scene, about eight miles northwest of this Ontario County village, was four miles from a main road. Heiber walked half a mile to the nearest house to summon help and the three men were brought down from the snow-covered hill by horse and sleigh.

Announces Nationalist, U.S. Treaty Of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Wednesday the United States might blockade Red China if peaceful means fail to protect the rights of citizens like the 13 Americans jailed by Peiping on spy charges. He said he was confident, but not certain, that peaceful means would be sufficient.

Dulles made the statement during a news conference which he opened by announcing agreement with Nationalist China on a mutual defense treaty pledging the United States to retaliate, probably against the Communist-held China mainland, if the Reds attack the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

The treaty, Dulles said, would be signed sometime this week. He said it is "another link in the system of collective security" against Communist aggression in the Western Pacific.

Dulles' remarks about blockading Red China came when reporters sought clarification of his statements in a speech Monday night at Chicago. The secretary said then the United States would "exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens." He ruled out for the present any blockade of Red China such as Senate Republican Leader Knowland, of California, has called for.

Dulles said that would be a "war action" and the White House issued a statement Tuesday agreeing with him.

Knowland, however, stuck to his guns. He said he had a difference of opinion and remained unconvinced measures short of a blockade would win relief for the 13 Americans.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) Wednesday declared himself "in complete sympathy" with Knowland's blockade proposal. Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) did likewise, terming the jailing of the 13 "perilously close to an act of war."

The 11 U.S. airmen and two civilian employees of the U.S. Army were captured after plane crashes two years ago. Radio Peiping announced last week they had been sentenced to jail terms as "spies," a charge denounced by the United States.

Editorial Comment

MAJORITY PARTIES

Which is the majority party in the United States today? For years there could be but one answer. From Lincoln's time to 1932 the Republicans were in power almost continuously, the two terms of Cleveland and of Wilson being but temporary interruptions. The year 1932 changed all that; when the Democrats won five presidential elections in succession, it was plain that they now had more followers than the Republicans.

The GOP came back two years ago with a great victory for President Eisenhower. The party candidates for Congress, however, lagged far behind him, and barely won a majority. Now that majority has gone, and the figures, just given out, for the popular vote this year bear out the impression from the returns.

With not all districts reported, especially in the South, the Democrats had 21,849,811 votes to the Republicans' 20,099,328, a Democratic lead of 1,750,483.

This tells nothing for 1956. President Eisenhower has an unrivaled popularity, and the course of events may be favorable to the GOP. Time will tell.

FADING NAZIS

The imprisoned Nazi war criminals grow fewer. The release of the 81-year-old Konstantin von Neurath, Hitler's first Foreign Minister, leaves only seven in the prison fortress of Spandau, Germany. These are Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy, who made the mysterious flight to England during the war; Walther Funk, former Economics Minister; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, all serving life terms. Sentenced to 20-year terms are Armaments Minister Albert Speer and Baldur von Schirach, head of the Reich Youth. Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, named by Hitler as his successor, is serving a ten-year term.

Neurath was an aristocrat, contrasting greatly with his successor, the bumptious Joachim von Ribbentrop, a former champagne salesman. He was luckier than Ribbentrop, merely getting a prison term, while Ribbentrop was hanged. Both were ruthless. Neurath's special offense was his cruelty as war governor of Bohemia and Moravia. The Allies did not make the mistake of World War I, when the war criminals went free. The imprisonment visited on Neurath and the rest at Spandau, besides the executions and suicides of others, was a small price for the misery they caused.

Rest, Correct Diet Helps Rheumatoid Arthritis Victims

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Rheumatoid arthritis which is called atrophic arthritis or chronic infectious arthritis, is a serious condition many features of which remain baffling. The cause of this disease still is not known. It is particularly common in young adults and is much more frequent in women than in men.

Rest, both for the joints which are affected, and for the body as a whole, is always desirable. Simple remedies to relieve pain, providing they are not habit forming, are also helpful. Many victims have a tendency to anemia so that they may need iron preparations or occasionally blood transfusions. The diet for patients with rheumatoid arthritis, especially during the early stages, should contain sufficient nutrient material and should be high in vitamins. Heat, massage and special exercises are often extremely useful.

A FEW PEOPLE with rheumatoid arthritis seem to have been definitely benefited by a change in climate—a warm, dry climate being the most popular. This also, however, is not a sure cure and there have been many disappointments. Doctors also have used treatments with foreign protein injections. These substances, usually injected into a vein or muscle, produce a kind of reaction which seems to stimulate the resistance.

Preparations containing gold, given by injection, have been widely employed in this country and in Europe for patients with rheumatoid arthritis. When used during the early stages, this seems to have brought about good results in many cases.

NEARLY ALL ARE now familiar with the use of cortisone and ACTH in rheumatoid arthritis. These substances frequently bring sudden and dramatic relief of symptoms and effects which are usually not lasting and consequently the search goes on for new and better methods of treating acute forms of the disease.

THE VALUE of long-term, conservative treatment is getting increased recognition. The comparatively simple methods available often bring better than expected results. Also several special gadgets of a mechanical nature have frequently proved quite useful in long-term care. If the patient needs braces, crutches or a wheel chair it is now possible to prescribe much more satisfactorily than in the past.

It should be remembered, however, that most victims of rheumatoid arthritis will never become so disabled as to require most of these special devices. It is comforting, however, to know that if needed they are available.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—God must have had his arms around me otherwise I would be blind today. That's the opinion of Sammy Davis Jr., brilliant young entertainer who lost an eye in an auto accident near San Bernardino, Calif., last week.

I saw him in his sunset strip apartment before he left for a desert recuperation. He had a bandage over his left eye, but his spirits were as exuberant as on opening night in Las Vegas. He laughed at his reaction when he learned of the loss of his eye.

"I'm the biggest ham in the world," he confessed. "I had been waiting 28 years to play this scene. You know how dramatic it is in the movies when the hero has lost an arm or a leg. Like in King's Row. Remember?"

"Well, my big moment came. I looked up from the hospital bed and there was the doctor saying, 'Sammy, we had to remove your eye. And all I could say was, 'oh?'" Sammy, who was otherwise uninjured, said his first reactions were thankfulness.

"This can't hurt me," he reasoned. "I can still dance as well as I could before. I can still sing as well. Nothing has changed."

"I've never been a very religious person, which is strange because my mother is a devout Catholic and my father's family are strong Baptists. But I would only go to church when I felt like going—once or twice a year."

"Living flat on your back in the hospital for eight days, you are bound to think about serious things. And I couldn't get over how lucky I was. God must have had his arms around me. Otherwise I would be blind today."

"A few days after my accident, the governor of Iowa was in the same kind of accident. He was killed instantly and his wife was on the critical list."

Sammy was injured when his head hit the steering column. He said he had a strange reaction to having the sight of only one eye.

The hospital nurses were dazzled by his visitors. Eddie Cantor did a Jewish dialect routine to amuse him. Frank Sinatra was there and offered the use of his Palm Springs house for recuperation. Jack Benny came in and cracked: "I didn't bring you anything. I'm staying in character." He actually had sent a lavish orchid bouquet.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has retained such immense personal popularity through the first two years of his term he probably will hold this public esteem to the end.

For a man two years in the White House, he has been almost amazingly free of personal attacks or abuse. For one thing, politicians who might like to take a crack at him may have felt it too risky to tackle a national hero.

But Eisenhower himself, although a novice in politics, has followed the one course best calculated to bring him a minimum of abuse: by making no personal attacks.

Perhaps the best example of this is his handling of Sen. McCarthy. He has treated Sen. Knowland of California very carefully too—who has repeatedly stepped on the toes of the administration.

Yet before his term is up Eisenhower may think it necessary to take a far tougher position on matters affecting his administration.

More than his own personal popularity as at stake these next two years.

In 1956 the voters will decide not only the future of the Republican party, but also the future of the United States.

The Republicans as a whole cannot equal popularity with Eisenhower. There are two examples of that. He ran far in front of the party in 1952, and the Republicans' net control of Congress to the Democrats in last month's elections, while Eisenhower's popularity rating was still regarded as high.

The Republicans will not present an enticing spectacle to the voters if between now and 1956 they show themselves split on domestic and foreign affairs with some of them in steady opposition to Eisenhower or at least to his administration.

That Eisenhower can expect trouble from McCarthy seems a foregone conclusion. Even if he is censured this week, the Wisconsin Republican says he will continue his search for Communists. His most likely searching ground is the administration, as it was there past two years.

McCarthy has a following, inside and outside Congress and in the Republican party. It may not be a majority following but it could create bad spirits which might ruin the party's chances in 1956.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I approach the Christmas season reluctantly. It opens many wounds in my life. Christmas gives scars as well as pleasures.

I was one of five children and cannot remember that as a child at Christmas time I ever gave a present to make my mother happy. Big scar to me. None to mother.

When I was young there was no real poverty. The tree was strung with cranberries and popcorn. The gift of love was an orange. How strange an orange was then and a few nuts from Brazil to make the day strange and merry.

There was also a gift for us all. Something like a sled we could all use and fight over.

But it was all for us. At my age I still can't recall when my idea first came to us that we should also give a present to our father and mother—that this was also part of Christmas.

We were used to taking things. And our parents were so used to giving and expecting nothing so that we rather grew up and never knew quite what we owed. And perhaps our debt grew beyond our realization.

One of the torments of a grown-up is that he realizes his obligations too late. What gift can I give my father, 17 years dead, except a mellowing remembrance?

He infected my heart beyond repair—he and his love of every body—and so. If I lived by his strength, nobody would ever be friendless utterly.

As I said before, I approach the Christmas season reluctantly.

It isn't that I don't enjoy glad times, because I do. But where my father would see the seeds of charity in his time with complete good will, I feel that now in trying to do the same thing, I am but his echo, and never himself indeed.

Some of the other four boys in the family say I dream my father too high, now that he is gone, but my sister, Dolores, who has two children of her own, says:

There'll never be another man like dad."

Not will there ever be. He still is the king of our Christmas tree. Bitterly the family regrets he isn't there to ignite the holiday—just by the warm light of his presence.

Certainly a lot of other people miss a lot of other people—just thinking of Christmas.

McCarthy Censure Is Not Based on Communism Fight

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As the Senate reconvenes to decide whether or not to wash out Junior Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's mouth with soap, anything can happen—and it probably will.

The alternatives include a vote of censure, a compromise, a filibuster to prevent a vote, postponement of decision till next year, letting the whole business die a natural death or even the filing of new charges of censure for compounding offenses and making a bad issue worse.

The United States Senate—which prides itself on being the most deliberative and the most deliberate body in the world—has got itself in some Grade A messes before. But none of them seems to approach the depths of the current situation.

In the first two weeks of so-called debate on the original censure resolution, before the recess, the real issue at stake seems to have been completely lost in a fog of deliberate confusion.

SENATOR MCCARTHY HIMSELF and his more rabid followers have all tried to build up the idea that he was being tried and persecuted because he fought communism.

The question before the U. S. Senate has nothing to do with either communism or anti-communism.

It is a simple matter of whether or not McCarthy has been contemptuous of his colleagues in a situation where they believed they were entitled to more courtesy. And whether this same senator has been a gentleman in the treatment of one witness before his committee—namely, Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, whom no one has accused of being a Communist.

All the petitions in the world and all the name-calling cannot alter or obscure this simple fact.

MEMBERS OF THE House of Representatives refer to each other on the floor as the "Gentleman" from New Hampshire, the "Gentleman" from New Mexico and so on. In the upper chamber, however, the members refer to each other as "senator."

Hydrogen is the lightest known gas with helium second.

If there is any implication in this that the senators are not supposed to be gentlemen, it is false. On the contrary, most people expect that the senators should be even more courteous in manner and more gentlemanly than the representatives.

It is well known that when a certain type of man cannot win an argument on logic, he resorts to calling his opponent nasty names.

No purpose would be served in repeating here the purely personal abuse that McCarthy has heaped on the heads of his fellow senators when their opinions did not coincide with his own. These insults are all too well known already.

A PAINED OBSERVER of the Senate's present state of affairs would say that the mark of a gentleman, that once he has cooled down after a burst of temper, he is not ashamed to step forward to say with humility and sincerity, "I apologize."

It has been suggested that those two little words, perhaps the most underworked in the English language, hold the only real solution to the utterly useless proceedings before this special session of the U. S. Senate.

So it has been said that if a certain person who in this paragraph may be nameless, should get up on the floor of the United States Senate and say, loud and clear, "I apologize," it might perform two miracles.

It might end the disgraceful business now before the Senate. It might also ease the speaker's conscience. It has even been suggested that it would cure his sore elbow. Well, anyway, that's one point of view.

SILENT ATTENTION

DES MOINES (AP)—Miss Nina Neal has a pair of felt earmuffs for use when she settles down for an evening of television.

When a program doesn't interest her, she dons the ear muffs and reads a book until something comes along that she wants to watch. She says the earmuffs keep the television from distracting her from her book.

Love-Me-Love-My-Dog Code Would Help Cut Divorce Rate

"I don't want my husband, but I certainly want my dog," a California wife recently told a judge faced with the problem of settling a custody battle over a French poodle.

To that the husband replied: "It's a serious matter with me, too. I like the dog. I'll feed her steaks."

The judge hearing the divorce case settled the matter by awarding the poodle to the wife, with the husband's being given the right to have the dog every other weekend.

That news item suggests the thought that maybe there would be fewer divorces if husbands and wives lavished the same kind of uncritical, love-me-love-my-dog devotion on each other that they find it so easy to lavish on a household pet.

There never was a pet that for all his lovable qualities wasn't a nuisance at times. But no matter how much mischief a pet gets into, or how difficult it is to teach him anything, or how unpopular he may be with the neighbors, to his owner he is worth every bit of the trouble he causes.

CRUELTY TOLERANCE

If Bosco can't be broken of the habit of chasing cats, his owners forgive him on the grounds that, after all, it is just natural for a dog to chase cats.

But when it comes to human relationships—humans aren't nearly so tolerant and so understanding.

Husbands expect wives to be angels and wives expect husbands to be perfect. And when a husband turns out to have all the faults and foibles of the masculine sex along with a few peculiarities of his own, and when a wife turns out to be more like ordinary women than the angels, and displays all the weaknesses and failings of her sex plus a few of her own inventions—the two are ready to get rid of each other.

If couples were only as tolerant of each other as they find it easy to be of a pet, they wouldn't be running to the divorce courts in such great numbers.

THE MATURE PARENT

Protecting Baby Calls for Gentleness, Not Severity

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Baby is our darling baby whom we wish earnestly to preserve against aggression by nameless hordes of germs.

So as we watch her, snow-suited and rosy, flopped down on the grass, faded grass, our smile turns to horror. For Babsy, exploring her environment, has found the silver foil of a discarded candy wrapper.

We get to her in time. Shaken up by her narrow escape, our voice is sharp. Our "No, no, no! Dirty paper! Not in the mouth!" has the urgency of fear.

A few minutes later, we make a decision. We decide that we can no longer temporize with the threat of who-knows-what disaster to Babsy. We rush at her with determination.

We fling away the sudden glare but she's lifting to her mouth—and spank the hand that held it. "Nasty!" we cry. "Not in the mouth! Not in your mouth again! or Mummy will have to spank harder."

Babsy turns her blue eyes up to us in astonishment. It is quite clear that she doesn't understand us.

But we—we are very certain that we understand Babsy. I think we do not if we use excessive severity to control her passion to eat tin foil, cigar butts, Grandma's beads, thumbtacks and dead leaves.

For to our baby girl, a mouth is not what it is to us. To Babsy, so recently emerged from her passive and dependent darkness as a baby yet unborn, her mouth is relationship. As it has connected her to the breast or the bottle Mother has given her, it focuses all her experience of love.

Thus, when she attempts to eat thumbtacks and other old things, she is attempting to embrace them with the only love of which she is currently capable. If we understand this, we'll control this young passion of hers with tenderness instead of severity.

For Babsy is too young in friendship to discover that we find her "acquaintances" disgusting and contaminating.

I hope that no reader will conclude from this column that I am urging a diet of discarded candy foil or cigar butts for young children.

I am not. I am just suggesting that in a world in which such the abound, along with their threat of who-knows-what disaster, it is for Babsy to retain the spontaneous friendliness toward the world which was planned for her.

If we balance our fears with the realization that retaining this friendliness can be just as important to Babsy as any other kind of health, we'll remove her unhygienic "friends" gently, instead of with frightening alarms.

She'll soon learn to extend her embraces elsewhere.

Interpreting The News

BY J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

One of the most interesting facets of the new proposals for an Allied economic aid program in Asia is the expectation of the United States that European nations which benefitted from the Marshall Plan shall now do as they have been done by.

Europe, in a general way, is doing fine economically. Britain and West Germany, particularly, are enjoying periods of great prosperity, though the latter will soon undertake the burden of rearming. France is still having her troubles, but the gradual accretion of her economy since 1948 is now being spurred by removal of the Indochina War burden. Important steps are being taken under the Mende-France government to correct hindering influences on trade and to improve archaic production methods.

Britain, of course, already is contributing to an economic bootstrap operation in Asia, the Colombo Plan involving 19 countries. The United States is a participant in this, and the new program proposed by the United States is expected to be dovetailed with it.

The United States already is spending about a billion and a half annually on aid to Asia, but about half of it goes for military needs. Just how much this program will be stepped up has not been determined, but almost all additional funds will be for economic development.

The aim falls within the concept of Point Four, which was itself inspired by the necessity of doing something to build up the ability of underdeveloped countries to withstand the appeals of communism.

The new aid program also envisions the continuance of some help to Europe, both military and economic, which was to have been discontinued next year. But appropriations for Europe will be cut—they are already down to less than a billion a year—to allow for diversion to Asia. It was once hoped that the entire Asiatic program could be financed by diversion from Europe, but this hardly seems likely to occur. The United States, for one thing, is preparing to give considerable aid to the West German rearmament program.

Just how much Europe will help is problematical. Probably not much, beyond what Britain already is doing. But European governments are reported aware of the possibilities that a unified effort will do something to ameliorate the Asiatic idea that they have never been interested in anything except selfish colonialism. The program does not envision merely a bunch of handouts. Where possible, long-term loans will be arranged to help liquidate the investment.

Amvet Auxiliary Plans Xmas Party

June Dodsworth was introduced and welcomed as a new member at the last meeting of the Amvet Auxiliary. Mrs. Dodsworth received the pledge from Marie Hart, chaplain of the auxiliary.

The meeting was conducted by President Jo Vasconcellos. Minutes of the previous meeting and correspondence were read by Irene Sanders and the treasurer's report was given by Hazel Siegfried in the absence of treasurer Millie Poole.

Announcement was made of the forthcoming district meeting to be held in North Pekin on Sunday, Dec. 5.

Miss Roberts was appointed as the chairman of the Wordchild program, which is pledged to aid orphans of veterans.

An interesting report was given by Betty Taylor, chairman of the current American project. She and Irene Hoffman have been investigating what the auxiliary can do to further stimulate love of country in exceptional children. They presented a number of ideas to the members and after discussion were told to use their judgment on what presentation to make.

Marie Hart reported on child welfare. The members had brought donations of food to the club for a Thanksgiving basket, which Mrs. Hart was to prepare and take to a needy family in Jacksonville.

Election of officers was held. Nominations were received and Jo Vasconcellos stated that she deeply regretted that her name as proposed secretary must be withdrawn from the slate. Irene Sanders was then nominated as secretary. The election resulted in the following being chosen as officers for the coming year: president, Eleanor Anderson; senior vice president, Esta Lee Beadles; junior vice president, Irene Hoffman; secretary, Irene Sanders; treasurer, Millie Poole; sergeant-at-arms, Marie Hart.

The auxiliary will hold its annual Christmas party on Dec. 12. It will be in the form of a potluck dinner with husbands or friends of the auxiliary welcome. Members are asked to take sandwiches, a covered dish and table service. A gift exchange will be part of the fun and all attending are asked to take a $1.00 gift suitable for a member of their sex. The committee in charge of plans for the party are Esta Lee Beadles, June Dodsworth and Velma Switzer.

Meeting was adjourned by returning the colors and reading of prayer. Social hour was enjoyed with the Amvets with Esta Lee Beadles, Philis Miller and C. P. Siegfried serving. Next meeting will be Dec. 14, at which time a beautiful hand-woven rug will be presented as an attendance prize.

Just the facts, Ma'am!

Work is progressing according to schedule on the big water pipe line to the Illinois River. Soon the water shortage that has faced the citizens of our community for a number of years will be a thing of the past.

Best of all, your Water Department is paying its own way on this huge undertaking. The revenue derived from the sale of water to Jacksonville's growing population will be used to pay for the special bond issue.

Rare Birds In This Area Visit Jacksonville

Nine white-winged crossbills have been reported seen in the Jacksonville area: two females at Lake Jacksonville on November 20; three males in Miss Emma Mae Leonhard's garden, 237 Pine street on the same morning; by Thanksgiving morning seven birds had congregated in the same garden. They fed on the cones of the hemlock trees and drank from the lily pool. The members of the Bird Club of Jacksonville High School studied them and tried to snap some pictures of them. Visitors enjoyed seeing them at close range, since the birds were very tame and did not appear disturbed by the presence of people.

The crossbill is the only American bird with the queer crossing of the bills. Because of this characteristic crossbills are among the most interesting birds in the American avifauna. They can easily obtain the seeds from the cones of evergreen trees by these pruning-shear mandibles and their peculiarly shaped scoop-like tongues. The more common crossbill is called the Red Crossbill. The White-winged crossbill seems to be less common and ranges a little farther north toward the arctic seas.

The White-winged crossbill is the size of the English sparrow, rosy-pink with black wings and tail and broad white wing-bars. The females and the young are olive-gray with yellowish rump, but also with two broad white wing bars. It breeds in the spruce belt from the limit of trees in Canada to the northern edge of the United States, according to Roger Tory Peterson. It is listed as rare in the Chicago area and not found on the St. Louis bird field check-list nor on the Springfield list.

They'll Do It Every Time

Madness In The Spring

By Elinor Dennison

Copyright 1954 by Elinor Dennison. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

RAIN was puzzled, but he had learned long ago to conceal uncertainty. "This brought you back to New York?"

"In a way. What I'm after is someone to sponsor a telecast of the Grand Opening, with Philip Kirby acting as M.C. With his publicity and current popularity we'd have the whole country watching that show. But that's just part of a bigger picture, of course. I've been thinking a lot about a new television program based on American folklore, using the opening of Dead Man's Gulch as the first shot of the campaign."

"American folklore," Crain said thoughtfully.

Greg pushed aside his coffee cup and leaned forward. He was so absorbed in his idea that he was only vaguely conscious of Crain. "Look," he said eagerly, "no one is really selling America these days. It's a tremendous field with excitement and glamor."

Crain studied him with more interest than he had ever displayed. "Who's idea is this?"

"Partly mine," Greg said. "Partly a guy who's traveling with us, fellow with a real flair for selling."

"You know," Crain said unexpectedly. "In a lot of ways you are quite changed."

On the contrary, it was Crain who had changed. There was nothing particularly forbidding about him; just a harmless, cautious guy trying to make a buck, Greg thought.

"This man Daggett," Crain pushed back his chair and lifted his liquor glass absently, set it down again, "seems to have made quite an impression on you."

To his amazement, Greg realized that Crain was a trifle jealous. His stepfather really me. But there is no other basis for discussion.

"That is hardly a friendly spirit."

"Sorry. Actually, I don't feel at all unfriendly," Greg was surprised to discover that this was true.

TELEGRAM to Wade Daggett, Dead Man's Gulch, North Dakota:

"CRAIN BUYING THE PROGRAM AND TECHNICIANS ON THEIR WAY. STOP. KIRBY HIRED AS M.C. AND RUPERT AS WHATAVEYOU STOP. CRAIN STOP. BUT IS CASH GRAND OPENING STOP. SO ARE PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS STOP. BUT IS CASH REGISTER YOU'RE GOING TO NEED IT OPERATION FOLKLORE IS IN THE BAG."

Daggett read the telegram about to Kirby, Rupert and Hannah. Then he leaned back on his pillows and laughed. Rupert sat looking at the open door of heaven. Kirby danced Hannah the length of the bedroom and then led her outside.

"Now that I'm on the payroll again, I've got something to say to you." His puckish face was more sober than she had ever seen it. "I want to marry you, Hannah. I can give you an interesting life with a lot of glamor in it, if you want glamor; and plenty of domesticity, if that's what you want. I'd do my best." Tentatively his arms went around her. "You're the sweetest thing I ever saw and I love you very much."

Hannah slipped out of his embrace and for a moment the radiance in her face melted. "Thank you," she began and Kirby's impatient nose wrinkled with amusement. "You're welcome," he assured her.

"I mean—thank you for telling me you love me. It's a great deal to know a man can love me."

"How about you?"

She shook her head. "I can't Philip. I can't."

"Is it seaver?"

She nodded.

Kirby studied her face. "I would," he said bitterly, "pick out a girl who doesn't want me. At least—if you ever change your mind, I'll be waiting."

League Grants Cards Permission To Move Columbus

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The American Assn. Wednesday unanimously granted the St. Louis Cardinals permission to negotiate for transfer of its Columbus, Ohio, franchise to Omaha, Neb., now in the Western League.

George Sisler, Columbus general manager, has been negotiating with the Western League which reportedly is asking $100,000 damages for loss of the Omaha territory. The Cardinals own both the Columbus and Omaha franchises. The Western League lost Denver by draft to the American Assn. earlier this week. The league's association must pay for the Denver territory to be determined by a five-man arbitration board.

The Kansas City Blues franchise was shifted to Denver after the Philadelphia A's moved to Kansas City.

Asked what would happen to the players on the Omaha roster if the Columbus deal is consummated, Sisler said "I assume we would make arrangements to move them to another class A team or perhaps make a working agreement in the Western or some other league."

Class B Teams Draft 10 Players

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Class B leagues took 10 players and paid $9,600 Wednesday in the minor league baseball draft. Class B clubs drafted 26 players last year.

Waterloo, Iowa, of the Three I League drafted Robert J. Brown from Eldorado, Ark., of the Cotton States League for $1,000. Brown, a left handed pitcher, won 20 games while losing 7 last season.

Evansville of the Three I League drafted Robert M. York, right handed pitcher, from Seminole of the Sooner State League for $800. York won 10 and lost 15 last season.

Peoria of the Three I League drafted Benjamin Beltran, third baseman, from El Paso-Dallas of the Arizona-Texas League for $1,000. Beltran hit .338 in 86 games.

Yankees-Orioles Complete 18-Man Package Deal

By JACK HAND
HOUSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles finally completed their 18-man "Bob Turley" deal Wednesday.

Details of the "Turley deal" leaked out by dribbs until only official confirmation was lacking. The two clubs made it official after the final draft session "unfroze" the rosters of minor league clubs.

Infielder Kal Segrist (291 at Kansas City), infielder Don Lepert (.313 at Birmingham) and left-handed pitcher Bill Miller (.61 with the Yankees) go to Baltimore in the new switch. Outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda, catchers Gus Triandos and Hal Smith and pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald had been announced earlier.

SPORTS TRAIL

By NICK ELLEN (For Whitney Martin)

NEW YORK (AP)—The Torger won't be there when the 10th annual Torger Tokie memorial ski jumping tournament is held at Bear Mountain, N.Y. Dec. 19, but memories of one of the country's greatest skiing figures will linger on.

The Torger won't be there because he died on a snow-covered mountain peak on March 3, 1945, fighting in the battle for Italy.

In one of the most brilliant mountaineering feats in U.S. Army annals, Tokie, a sergeant in the 10th mountain troops, led his platoon up a sheer wall of rock, surprising a Nazi garrison. Then a German 88 shell wiped him out.

Sgt. Lyle Munson of Iron Mountain, Mich., a long-time rival of the Torger in sports and friend of his in war, saw him killed.

He died in much the same fashion he lived," said Munson. Engaged in action up to the hilt.

It was this propensity for action, bordering on recklessness that enabled Tokie to shatter every American ski-jumping record in a brief but meteoric career.

From the day he arrived from Norway in 1939 at the age of 19, Tokie competed in 48 meets here and won 43. But he never was out-jumped, losing only on form.

He broke the 275-foot national jumping record in 1941 at Leavenworth, Wash., with a leap of 273 feet. He broke his own record the same year at Hyak, Wash., with a tremendous leap of 288 feet and again in 1942 with 289 feet at Iron Mountain, Mich. This record stood for seven years.

There still is an air of reverence when skiers talk of Tokie's record Bear Mountain jump of 180 feet that threatens to stand forever.

"He jumped way past the critical point on that one," said Hans Strand, the 1940 senior national had a terrific pair of legs. On his record jump he almost landed on the flat. He almost sat down but managed to pull himself up. I have seen some jumpers reach 175 feet on this hill but none stood up. All fell."

Tokie came from a skiing family and his tradition is capable of being perpetuated by his younger brother Art.

"Art is one of the best today and he will probably compete in the meet," said Strand. "He won the national championship Torger's older brother Kyrre, is also a tough little skier."

Michigan State Cops Opener 91-72

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State used a new fast break, run-and-shoot style of play taught by its new coach, Fordy Anderson, to win its opening basketball game of the season 91-72 from Marquette Wednesday night.

The 91 points was a new modern-day, one-game scoring record for the Spartans. The old high was made when MSC beat Creighton 88-51 in the 1933-34 season.

Anderson, whose galloping style of play took Bradley University to the NCAA final last season, completely revamped the old control-ball game formerly favored by the Spartans.

Forwards Julius McCoy banged in 31 points to lead the MSC attack and Al Perari was next with 25 points.

Michigan State took charge early in the game and held a comfortable 50-37 lead at the half. Early in the second half Marquette climbed to within eight points of tying the score, but then faded.

Four Named To North Squad

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Three freshmen and a halfback bolstered the Yanks' Blue-Gray chances Wednesday as the northerners prepared for their annual football battle with the Rebels Christmas Day.

North players named were halfback Ed Zembel of Purdue, center Jack Chamlin of Illinois, and guard Carl McCuicke and tackle Dick Shipley of Maryland.

The additions gave the Yankees 18 players, four below full strength. The South already has completed its roster.

NOTHING TO RUMORS
ST. LOUIS (AP)—August A. Busch Jr., president of Anheuser-Busch Inc., which owns the St. Louis Cardinals, said Wednesday "any rumors about the sale of the Cardinals are ridiculous."

His statement was prompted by stories carried by two Chicago newspapers reporting the club is up for sale by the brewery.

Jesse Owens Upholds America's Chances In '56 Olympic Games

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Jesse Owens, who won everything in the 1936 Olympics except a handshake from Hitler, Wednesday suggested it was time to quit spreading "gloom" about this nation's chances against Russia in the 1956 Olympics.

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, Tuesday said in a speech here that Russia's success in international athletic competition has been phenomenal and is destined to progress.

Interview at his Illinois Athletic Commission office where he serves as commission secretary, the 41-year-old Owens said he didn't like Russia's methods of preparing athletes by "rounding them up in camps" for rigorous long training.

"But they're only human," he added. "They're making fabulous times and records, according to reports, but the Olympics are a different story," said Owens, who now weighs 195, compared with 165 when he won the 100 and 200 meter sprints and the broad jump and ran on the winning 400 meter relay team in the 1936 Olympics at Berlin.

"Germany had the best army in the world and we started out as a broomstick army twice," said Owens. "But when the chips were down, our kids were the best in the world. You train just so much. Then you got to fight."

"I have great faith in our coaches and coaching methods in colleges and high schools. We have some Olympic-tested stars who could do it again at Melbourne, Mal Whitfield, Harrison Dillard, Bob Richards, Parry O'Brien, Sam Inness and Jerry Biffle—all champions in the 1952 Olympics."

Owens, voted the greatest track athlete of the half century in The Associated Press poll, is affiliated with a drive-in cleaning plant on Chicago's South Side and also operates an insurance agency.

TAG YOUR DEER
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—State game rangers report many violations of the game code when it comes to deer hunting. The most frequent violation is the unlawful possession of deer due to an unlocked tag.

Chief Game Ranger Cliff Sorrels cautions hunters to immediately tag their deer as soon as it is taken. The tag must be locked. The number on the tag must correspond to the number of the deer permit and to the number written on the hunter's license. Unlawful possession of deer is subject to either fine or imprisonment or both in Arizona.

Irish Practice Passing From Spread Formation

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish Wednesday practiced passing from a spread formation for Saturday's invasion of Southern Methodist, the team which wrecked the Irish in 1951 with the same formation.

The Irish uncovered the spread three weeks ago against North Carolina, but employed regular split T tactics in their past two games against Iowa and Southern California.

'Cheer Up Chuck' Program Swamps Radio Station

MONTREAL (AP)—The "Cheer Up Chuck" campaign started by a Montreal radio station was snowballing into such proportions late Wednesday that the station was deluged with dimes.

The campaign is a goodwill effort to cheer Chuck Hunsinger, the "goat" in the team's loss of the Grey Cup game last Saturday to the Edmonton Eskimos.

Hunsinger left for his home in Harrisburg, Ill., immediately after the game in Toronto, dejected over his wild heave of the ball that gave Edmonton a touchdown and a 26-25 win.

For their dime contributions each fan's name will be among the signatures to a telegram telling Hunsinger he is appreciated and to force the Grey Cup episode and come back next season.

Jimmy Tapp, manager of station CJAD, won more than 1,000 letters and dimes poured into the station Wednesday and the end was nowhere in sight. The idea was first put on the air last night Wednesday the station had assigned two girls to handling the mail and looking after contributions brought in by individuals.

Stansfield Pours 31 Points Through Hoop As IC Scores Victory

It was just about a year ago when a redheaded boy from Chapin came to IC to spark the Blueboys to their first victory of 1954 and it was a different redheaded boy last night who sparked the Blueboys to their first victory of this season. It was Mel Engelbrecht last season and it was Bob Stansfield, just out of Jacksonville High School, who poured 31 points through the hoop last night as the Miller coached five defeated visiting Carthage 93-74.

The Blueboys took a commanding lead in the first period and after slowing up in the second quarter came back strong in the second half to score 57 points and defeat the hosts.

The Blueboys, led by Stansfield, Harrell and Curfman, took a 24-12 lead in the initial quarter as the cold shooting Redmen found the going a little rough. However, the visitors came back strong in the second quarter and scored 17 points but the Blueboys maintained a 36-29 halftime advantage.

The rebounding of Harrell and Barnes was too much for the Redmen in the third and fourth periods. The visitors tried to press the hosts and run with them but seemed to make a mistake by doing so. Stansfield and Barnes got basket after basket on the fast break.

The big scorer for the losers was Prunty who poured in 29 points. Ed Harrell connected for 18 for the winners. The IC five hit 41.5 per cent of their shots.

The Blueboys play here again Saturday as they entertain Greenville.

The Redmen defeated the Blue boys "B" team 63-47.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a pounding from two selling waves Wednesday and was forced down despite strong resistance to the decline.

It was the second straight fall for the market, the first time it has suffered successive setbacks since the big post-election bull market boom started.

The market has been going up steadily for nearly 15 months with very few corrective reactions, and since the election it has made an unusually strong advance.

That has set the stage for an expected normal selloff to consolidate previous large gains.

Tuesday's market was forced down by a wave of selling just before the final bell.

Wednesday's decline in prices came at a time when two unsettling developments were disclosed. From London there was word of uneasiness in the stock market because of fears that the Bank of England might take some anti-inflation steps of an undisclosed nature.

And in Washington, Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would strike back against the Chinese mainland if the Communists attacked the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

Aircrafts were strong throughout the day and resisted selling all the way. They ended with gains running to nearly $5. There were other individually strong stocks, but most major divisions were lower.

Steels were down all day along with the railroads, distillers, and many coppers, oils, farm implements, and motion pictures. The market otherwise was mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 90 cents, the same as Tuesday. It stood at $146.30 at the close. Two days ago it was the highest point of the year equal to Oct. 10, 1929.

Both the industrial and railroad components of the average lost $1.10 while utilities remained unchanged.

Volume came to 3,100,000 shares. That compares with 3,440,000 shares traded Tuesday.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed with a lower tendency. Trading amounted to 810,000 shares as compared with 900,000 shares Tuesday.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. government bonds were in demand Wednesday and the corporate bond market was fairly firm.

"Big Board" volume dipped to $5,140,000 par value from $5,270,000 Tuesday. Investment quality corporates, especially railroads and utilities found ready buyers. Medium-grade carriers were depressed as were most convertible obligations. Industrials changed hands selectively.

Long-term Treasury bonds were strong in over the counter markets. But dealers could attach no special significance to the rise.

GRAIN MARKET CLOSES WITH LOSSES

BY WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (AP)—Grains turned definitely weak in the last half of the session on the Board of Trade Wednesday after a morning rally ran out of steam.

Soybeans and rye ended with large losses. Oats suffered a severe shakeout for this grain at one time, but recovered partly before the close. Wheat and corn sank with the general market although their losses weren't extreme.

Wheat closed 1 to 1½ lower, corn ½-1½ lower, oats 1 to 1½ lower, rye ¾-1½ lower, soybeans 1½ to 2 cents lower and hard 17 cents lower to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The drop in soybeans followed reports of a greater willingness on the part of producers to sell cash beans. One house said sales had been made at $2.80 a bushel, track country station in Illinois.

Large supplies of soybeans still back in the country were creating a nervous atmosphere in the bean pit because of worry over when these beans will be marketed.

The drop in rye came late in the session and generally was believed to represent liquidation and touching off of stop-loss orders. Oats broke before rye.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—Most hogs lost around 25 cents Wednesday although a few choice, light butchers sold early at steady quotations. In a few cases losses ran as high as 50 cents. Salable receipts totaled 14,000.

Buyers paid $18.75 to $19.25, the top, for a few choice 180 to 215-pound butchers on early rounds. Most 230 to 260-pound offerings went at $17.25 to $18.00 with 270 to 300-pounders $16.50 to $17.25. Sows sold at $14.00 to $16.00.

A two way market developed in steers. While choice and prime kinds rose 25 to 50 cents, other grades were steady to weak. Top reached $31.50 with most good and choice kinds $21.00 to $27.50. Heifers sold steady to 25 cents higher, good to low choice bringing $20.25 to $24.25.

Cows were steady to 25 cents lower at $9.50 to $12.00 for utility and commercial. Vealers held firm at $17.00 to $22.00 for good to prime. Salable cattle receipts totaled 13,000.

Lambs sold weak to 50 cents lower while sheep held steady. Buyers paid $19.00 to $20.25 for choice to prime woolled lambs and $17.50 to $19.00 for good to choice. Salable receipts totaled 3,500.

How Midwest Senators Voted On McCarthy Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is how the following Midwestern senators voted Wednesday on condemnation of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) for his alleged contemptuous conduct toward a Senate subcommittee probing his financial affairs in 1951 and 1952. This is count 1 of the censure committee recommendations and was adopted 67-20.

Illinois: Dirksen (R) against; Douglas (D) for.
Indiana: Jenner (R) against; Capewhart (R) not voting but paired against.
Wisconsin: Wiley (R) and McCarthy (R), not voting or position announced.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is how the following Midwestern senators voted Wednesday when the Senate defeated the Bridges amendment stating that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) had violated no rules or precedents of the Senate and substituting this for the first censure count of the Watkins committee.
Illinois: Dirksen (R) for; Douglas (D) against.
Indiana: Jenner (R) for; Capewhart (R) not voting but announced as pair for.
Wisconsin: Wiley (R) not voting; McCarthy (R) voting present.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is how these Midwestern senators voted Wednesday as the Senate rejected 66-21 a substitute by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) for the first of the censure provisions against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) recommended by the special committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah):
Illinois—Dirksen (R) for; Douglas (D) against.
Indiana—Capewhart (R) not voting but paired for; Jenner (R) for; Iowa — Hickenlooper (R) for; Gillette (D) against.
Wisconsin — McCarthy (R) and Wiley (R) not voting nor position announced.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is how the following Midwestern senators voted Wednesday when the Senate defeated a substitute by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) for the McCarthy censure resolution. The substitute would have put the Senate on record as disapproving and disavowing "intemperate statements" by McCarthy.
Illinois—Dirksen (R) and Douglas (D) both against.
Indiana: Jenner (R) against; Capewhart (R) absent or not voting.
Wisconsin: Wiley (R) not voting; McCarthy (R) voting present.

Announce Fused Injection Against Diphtheria, Lockjaw

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army researcher announced Wednesday the successful development of a combination injection against both diphtheria and lockjaw for adults. He said it might eventually be possible to put almost all available protective injections against other diseases into "one jumbo shot."

"But," declared Dr. Geoffrey Edsall, "even if this should eventually prove possible, it is by no means just around the corner."

Dr. Edsall, chief immunologist of the Army Medical Service Graduate School, told the Assn. of Military Surgeons that this "jumbo shot" possibility is suggested by findings in connection with development of the diphtheria-lockjaw combination. The latter already has been standardized for issuance to all military troops.

He said that a still newer combination — incorporating typhoid vaccine with diphtheria and lockjaw toxoids — is now under study.

He said Army researchers also planned to explore the possibilities of further combinations, such as cholera, typhus and plague.

DETECTIVE'S WORST ASSIGNMENT, TAKING TOYS FROM CHILDREN

MEMPHIS (AP)—A veteran detective walked into police headquarters Wednesday with tears in his eyes.

Lt. J. E. Chennault was just back from his toughest assignment — taking $78.16 worth of Christmas gifts away from two pretty little girls.

Their father had paid for the presents with a forged check.

The father, Lee Carpenter, 27, said "I knew they were going to get me anyhow, so I thought I might as well see that the kids had a nice Christmas. I thought one more check wouldn't be any worse than the ones I had already passed. I thought I'd be caught any day so I gave the gifts to the kids early."

"It was the most pitiful thing I ever had to do," said Chennault. "The little girls couldn't understand why they had to have their Christmas gifts taken away from them."

Carpenter, a plumber, was held to the state on three counts of forgery — checks for $15, $5, and one for $80.16 with which he purchased the gifts.

Henry Kaplan, manager of the department store where the gifts were bought, said he was sorry about the youngsters but he was responsible to the store owners for the merchandise.

He added, however, that he personally plans to send Sandra, 8, and Barbara, 7, a Christmas box.

Two Courts Remain For Action Today

The galleries were half empty and McCarthy, his bandaged arm in a sling, had left the floor. He had been at Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital for treatment of his injured right elbow earlier in the day.

Before leaving he managed, however, to stir up a fresh investigation as well as to tell the Senate it had "disgraced" itself. Referring to the censure debate, he said "I want to get rid of this foul job and get back to work."

McCarthy based his call for an investigation on two related accusations. He said:

1. Somebody forged the name of Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) on a request to postal authorities for a "mail cover" — a check of the return addresses on mail to McCarthy (R-Wis.) during the 1951-52 investigation.

2. The staff of the Watkins committee had evidence of this but "suppressed" it in the inquiry that led to the filing of censure charges against him.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) and Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), a member of the Watkins committee, blocked McCarthy's demand for an immediate investigation either by the Senate or by the Justice Department. Watkins declared emphatically that the committee's staff members were honest men.

As the day's session ended, however, Knowland rose in what he described as a state of "righteous indignation" and won unanimous consent for the appointment of a two-member committee to see who has been "tampering with" senators' mail and how this can be stopped.

He named Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and George (D-Ga.) as the committee, with instructions to investigate at once and report what they can before the Senate — a expected — quits for the year Thursday.

Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), who served on the 1951-52 subcommittee which investigated McCarthy, gave official confirmation for the first time Wednesday that there was a "cover" on McCarthy's mail in October 1952.

The purpose, he said, was to help in the investigation of a complaint that McCarthy had diverted to speculative purposes funds donated for fighting communism.

Neither Hayden nor anyone else who served on the committee professed any knowledge of who requested this mail cover. McCarthy contained the action was illegal, Hayden disputed that.

Another oddity marked this climactic day in the long and bitter censure debate.

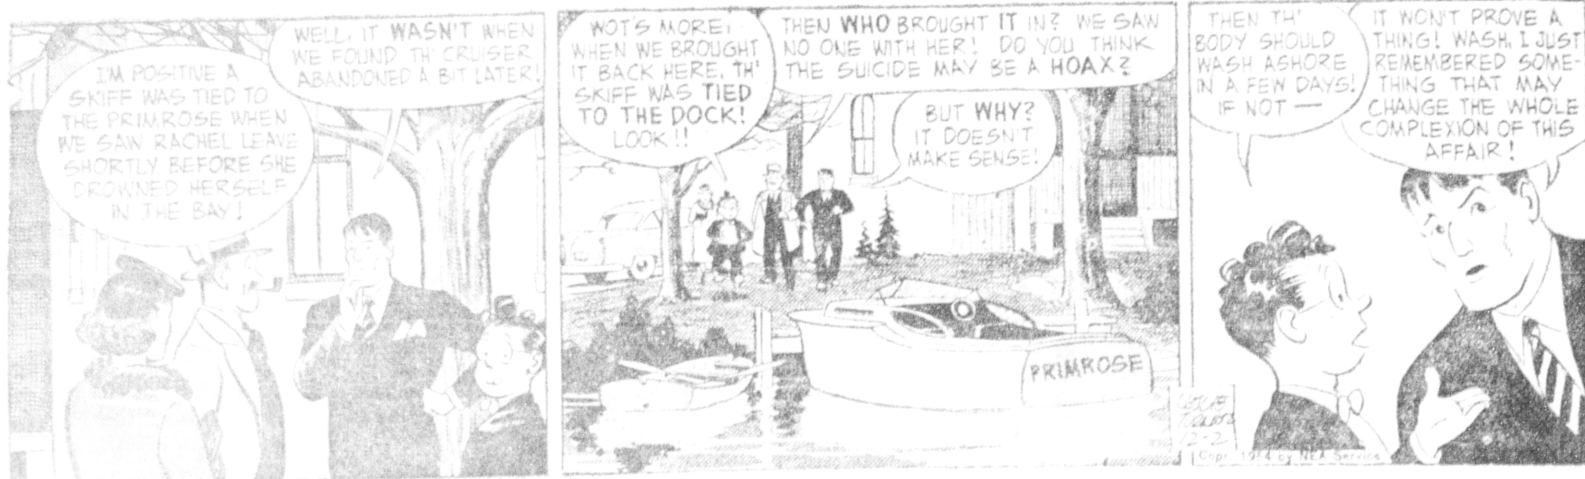

Ten boxes of petitions protesting the censure move arrived from New York in an armored truck — and the guards with the truck arrived with pistols drawn.

Capitol police told the men to put their guns away and they did so. The voting came swiftly once the debate wound up.

The first and decisive test came when the Senate rejected, 66-21, a resolution by Dirksen which would have thrown out the entire censure commendation of the Watkins committee.

Inspections Show Dental Decay In City Schools High

Dental inspections by Dr. W. H. Corey, school dentist in the public schools show a high incidence of dental decay among those children examined according to a release of statistics compiled by public school nurses, Miss Ethel Swanson and Mrs. Dorothy Witte.

The following is a summary of the dental inspections.

(Following table indicates percentage of dental decay.)

School	With	Without
David Prince	81%	19%
Jefferson	83%	17%
Lafayette	52%	48%
Lincoln	55%	45%
Washington	58%	42%
Franklin	67%	33%

Tooth decay, according to the American Dental Association, can be reduced by observing the following precautions:

1. Eat a well balanced diet low in foods containing refined sugars.
2. Brush the teeth immediately after eating. If the teeth cannot be brushed, rinse the mouth with water.
3. Visit the dentist regularly where dental disease may be detected early.
4. The addition of sodium fluoride to the public water supply as a result of which dental decay in children is reduced by 65%.

Dr. Corey when asked about the problem of combating the high rate of dental decay said, "I feel the fluoridation of the public water supply is the most economical means of combating dental decay since sodium fluoride can be added to the water at a cost as small as that of two candy bars or a cigar per person each year."

Citizens' Group O.K.'s Meredosia School Expansion

MEREDOSIA — A recommendation that the board of education in Community Unit 11 (Meredosia and Chambersburg) proceed with plans for building additions to both the high school and grade school in Meredosia was made at a public meeting here Monday night. The board is expected to call an election to vote on issuance of bonds.

Thirty-four citizens were in attendance at the meeting, over which Stuart Tracy presided. Mr. Tracy is chairman of a citizens' committee appointed by the board to consider the plans and make recommendations.

Plans which have been prepared by a Quincy architectural firm were discussed and accepted during the citizens' meeting. Several rooms will be added at both schools. Vocational agriculture, industrial arts and homemaking departments will be included in the high school addition.

Building plans were started some time ago when a survey showed that enrollment has increased rapidly, and that it will continue to go up for several years to come. Seventh and eighth grade pupils of the unit now attend school at Chambersburg.

99.88% Taxes Collected Here; Believed Record

Sheriff Earl Hembrough closed his books Tuesday night at the end of the fiscal year with 99.88% of taxes for 1953, payable in 1954, collected and turned over to the treasurer. This is believed to be the highest percentage of collection in the history of the county.

The sum of $2,802,863.62 was assessed to be collected by the sheriff, who is ex-officio collector. Hembrough's books showed that only 12/100 of one per cent remained uncollected.

He attributed the high rate of collection in part to the new law governing collection of personal taxes, which became effective July 1, 1953. The retiring sheriff, whose term ends next Monday, said his office has made a continuous effort to collect personal taxes.

Jury Disagrees In Burglary Case

A circuit court jury which heard evidence in the case of Loren Day, charged with burglary, was dismissed at 10 o'clock Tuesday night without having reached a verdict. The jurors were discharged after several hours of deliberation.

Day was charged with burglary of the Kinney shoe store last summer.

The defendant is still a prisoner in the county jail pending the disposition of other charges.

States Attorney Albert W. Hall appeared before Judge L. E. Wilkins in Morgan county circuit court Wednesday afternoon and made a motion that probation granted Loren Day on Oct. 23, 1953, be revoked. Day had been granted three years probation on a charge of the theft of seven Hampshire hogs from the farm of Martin Brummett.

Last September the state attorney filed a petition with the court to revoke probation, based upon an alleged attempted burglary of the Klump Oil Station at North Main street.

Wednesday State's Attorney Hall asked the court for a rule on the Day to show cause why probation should not be revoked on the grand larceny charge and sentence imposed.

Judge Wilkins ordered that Day appear in court at 9 a. m. Friday, Dec. 3 to show cause why the probation previously given him should not be terminated.

Mann Re-elected State Treasurer At Convention

J. A. Mann, superintendent of Jacksonville schools, was re-elected treasurer of the Illinois Association of School Administrators at the association's annual convention in Chicago.

Meeting at the Hotel Sherman with the Illinois Association of School Boards, the administrators tackled such problems as how to meet the need for approximately 4,000 new classrooms in 1955, school reorganization, financing new buildings.

In a panel discussion on "Teachers' Salaries—Class Loads" it was pointed out that although 20-25 pupils is the ideal class load almost 40 percent of our public school classes have 30 or more pupils. Insufficient classrooms, not enough teachers and inadequate building funds were cited as the primary causes of the situation. The delegates were cautioned that it is more important that the primary grades be improved.

Delegates were also told to urge tax payers groups to cooperate with them in meeting the problems created by increased student enrollment. It was estimated that there are 60,000 more students in Illinois public schools this year than last and the trend continues upward.
